John Neff: Articles, Videos, Books, Articles - Resource Page

What is surprising about John Neff is how great of an investor he was and how little is known about him. John Neff managed Vanguard's Windsor fund from 1964-1995 and produced a per annum return of 14.8% versus 10.6% for the S&P. This is one of the best long term records out of any money manager ever. Vanguard was started and run by John Bogle. John Bogle despite being an asset allocator and not an investor is one of the most influential men of investing in this past century.
